A number of white men banded together at the Pike Coal & Coke Company's operations on Marrowbone, and drove away the negro laborers. C. H. Dimic, an oil prospector of Eastern Kentucky, who recently acquired several thousand acres of oil properties in Knott county is now installing rigs and machinery on the ground preparatory to drilling. A number of test wells along Troublesome creek, Carr's Fork and Ball's Fork, contiguous to the Beaver-Creek field on the Knott-Floyd border, where developments have been in progress for several years. The territory recently acquired is believed, by experts, to be even richer in oil properties than the immediate Beaver-Creek section. A dozen wells or more will be drilled, beginning immediately. Others are seeking locations there.

Huntington, W. Va.—Mrs. Martha J. Bass, the divorced wife of John Early, of Gallipolis, O., was shot and killed by Charles Morrow, a colored hotel porter, here this afternoon. The shooting occurred at the home of Herbert Steel, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Bass. The supposition is that the hotel porter had taken Mrs. Bass a letter, and a quarrel over the presentation of the same resulted in the tragedy. After the shooting the negro ran from the house with a smoking pistol in his hand and attempted to escape among the throngs on Easter promenade, but he was pursued by hundreds. When the police overtook him he had to be clubbed into submission and was hurried off to the county jail for fear of mob violence.

Mrs. Bass twelve-year-old niece was the only witness to the tragedy. Mrs. Bass came here a few weeks ago on a visit to her sister.

The fact that Congressman James A. Hughes is to have a clear field for a renomination as the Republican candidate for congress, in the fifth congressional district, is the subject for a common congratulation. First, the people of the district are to be congratulated upon the fact that they will once more be represented by a man capable, competent and thoroughly alive to their individual interests, and at the same time one who is ever vigilant and aggressive in matters relative to the broader things of congress, pertinent to the general good. This is especially fortunate when applied locally, since it means that the Republicans of Cabell county, with no congressional fight to enter as a disturbing element, will present a solid front, and will, with a strong native majority to begin with, elect a solid Republican ticket in November. Mr. Hughes has labored diligently and unreservedly for the well-being of his constituents and has accomplished almost incredible results. This fact, but general acceptance of the fact that Mr. Hughes is to be returned to congress without opposition, expresses an eloquent approval on his course—Huntington Dispatch.

Will Blair, a Mingo county timberman, whose home is near Naugatuck, returned to that town Friday morning, after having spent a week at Catlettsburg and Huntington, during which time he disposed of a considerable quantity of timber, which he brought out on the rise of two weeks ago.

After alighting from the train, Blair started to walk across the trestle which spans Pigeon, and in some unaccountable manner fell to the sand bank, almost one hundred feet beneath. It was still dark when the accident happened, and no one saw Blair fall.

About 6 o'clock, however, he was discovered lying unconscious in the sand, and was carried to a nearby residence where he was given medical attention. He was speechless and wholly unconscious and remained in this state all day. It is not believed by those who have seen him that he will live more than a day or two, although attending physicians profess to believe that he has at least a chance for recovery.

When found under the trestle, Blair had a roll of greenbacks in his pocket which contained $1,948. In a side pocket of his coat he carried a full quart of "Bond & Lillard" whiskey. It is strange that in being precipitated from such a terrible height the man was able to escape without breaking any limbs, but such seems to have been his fortune.

For Thin, Poor Blood

You can trust a medicine tested 60 years! Sixty years of experience, think of that! Experience with Ayer's Sarsaparilla; the original Sarsaparilla; the strongest Sarsaparilla; the Sarsaparilla the doctors endorse for thin blood, weak nerves, general debility.

Not even this grand old medicine cannot do its best work if the liver is inactive and the bowels constipated. For the best possible results, you should take laxative doses of Ayer's Sarsaparilla while taking the Sarsaparilla. The liver will quickly respond, and so will the bowels.
